

GEORGIE OTTOMANS

Named after Egg's shop dog and mascot Georgie, these ottomans also take inspiration from George Balanchine, the co-founder of the New York City Ballet. Originally designed as a permanent installation in Lincoln Center's David H. Koch theater, their Moorish-influenced tiling pattern allows the three shapes to nestle into one another, creating the opportunity for endless seating configurations, working either in tandem with our Samuel Side Table, or all on their own.
